1.1 Text Alternatives

General description: Provide text alternatives for any non-text content so that it can be changed into other forms people need, such as large print, braille, speech, symbols or simpler language.

Result: Not fulfilled

Number of errors: 3

More info: <https://www.w3.org/WAI/WCAG21/quickref/?showtechniques=111#text-alternatives>

Detected Eye-Able error categories:

Rule: Missing alternative text in linked image

Explanation: Since the link itself does not contain text, the image must have an alternative text so that screen readers can identify the links content and purpose. A title attribute is not sufficient for all screen readers.

Help: Add a meaningful alternative text for the link or the linked image.

2.5.3 Label in Name

General description: For user interface components with labels that include text or images of text, the name contains the text that is presented visually.

Result: Rather not fulfilled

Number of errors: 3

More info: <https://www.w3.org/WAI/WCAG21/quickref/?showtechniques=111%2C244%2C312%2C221#label-in-name>

Detected Eye-Able error categories:

Rule: Visible label is not part of accessible name

Explanation: This rule checks that interactive elements labeled through content have their visible label as part of their accessible name, e.g., when using aria-label. This is especially important for users using speech input to control the website. Otherwise, the speech input cannot be interpreted correctly.

Help: Make sure the visible label is included in the accessible name. Additional context may be more appropriately included using the Accessible Description (including through use of aria-describedby).

Rule: Incorrect page language

Explanation: For speech output from screen readers or the browser to work correctly, the language of the page must be specified correctly. Otherwise, for example, the pronunciation of a speech output is incorrect.

4.1.1 Parsing

General description: In content implemented using markup languages, elements have complete start and end tags, elements are nested according to their specifications, elements do not contain duplicate attributes, and any IDs are unique, except where the specifications allow these features.
